COUNTY EXECUTIVE JACK DOYLE DECLARES STATE OF EMERGENCY

County Executive Jack Doyle has declared a State of Emergency effective at 10:55PM today.

The declared State of Emergency will be in effect until further notice. The declaration was issued in response to rapidly degrading weather and road conditions throughout Monroe County.

Due to the weather situation it is important to eliminate all unnecessary travel to ensure the safe and efficient operation of public safety vehicles. Residents are requested to stay indoors and off area roads due to falling and downed power lines, debris from trees and unsafe road conditions. As a result, Doyle has directed no unnecessary travel.

Area residents are asked to monitor local media outlets for developments and any possible future protective actions. Doyle further asked residents of Monroe County to check on the needs of elderly, infirm or mobility impaired neighbors.

Due to the nature of the unfolding weather conditions, roads may become impassable until they can be cleared of power lines and debris from fallen trees and limbs.

All residents should remember that calls to 9-1-1 should be limited to those situations requiring police, fire or EMS response. The 9-1-1 system is designed for emergencies only and is NOT intended to be used for general information or inquiry.
